OFFICIAL REPORT OF GEN. GRANT.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Nov. 26.

The following has been received at the Headquarters of the United States Army, in this city:

CHATTANOOGA, Nov. 25—5:15 P. M.

To Maj.-Gen. Halleck, General-in-Chief:

Although the battle lasted from early dawn till dark this evening, I believe I am not premature in announcing a complete victory over Bragg.

Lookout Mountain Top—all the rifle pits in Chattanooga Valley and Missionary Ridge entire—have been carried, and are now held by us.

(Signed,) U. S. GRANT, Major-General.

OFFICIAL REPORT OF GEN. THOMAS.

CHATTANOOGA, Nov. 25—Midnight.

To Maj.-Gen. Halleck, General-in-Chief:

The operations of to-day have been more successful than yesterday, having carried Missionary Ridge from near Rossville to the railroad tunnel, with a comparatively small loss on our side, capturing about forty pieces of artillery, a large quantity of small arms, camp and garrison equipage, besides the arms in the hands of prisoners.

We captured two thousand prisoners, of whom two hundred were officers of all grades, from Colonels down.

We will pursue the enemy in the morning.

The conduct of the officers and troops was everything that could be expected.

Missionary Ridge was carried simultaneously at the different points.

(Signed,) GEO. H. THOMAS, Maj.-Gen.

REPORTS FROM CHATTANOOGA.

CHATTANOOGA, Thursday, Nov. 26.

Gen. Bragg's retreat from his position of last night is represented as a perfect rout.

Gen. Sherman reached Chattanooga Station at 3 o'clock this morning, where he captured 200 prisoners, 2 guns and a number of wagons.

The enemy attempted to burn the bridge behind him, and partially succeeded.

The enemy also burned the depot and stores at Chickamauga.

Gen. Sherman crossed the Chickamauga this forenoon.

Gen. Hooker was reported at Ringgold at 5 o'clock this evening.

The deserters and captives from the rebel army are rapidly thinning it.

The number of cannon captured thus far is reported at 40, including the celebrated Lookout battery, which was lost by us at Chickamauga.

Gen. Sherman's loss is much less than estimated, and will probably not exceed 400.

Nearly 4,000 prisoners have been reported.

Two sons of Gen. Beauregard and Maj. Walker, aide-de-camp of Bragg, were brought in among the prisoners.

Gen. Beauregard himself narrowly escaped.

A strong column is in pursuit of the enemy, and it is not improbable another General Retreat will be caught on the.

GEN. BUTLER'S DEPARTMENT.

Successful Expedition to Eastern Virginia—Capture of the Rebel "Marine Brigade"—Design of the Organization—The Hussian Fleet to Winter at Old Point—Statement of a Refugee—A School of Rebels—The One Hundred and Forty-eighth New-York.

NORFOLK, Tuesday, Nov. 24, 1863.

SUCCESSFUL EXPEDITION TO EASTERN VIRGINIA.

A combined expedition, consisting of the navy gunboat Morse, Capt. BABCOCK, and 400 men from the One Hundred and Forty-eighth New-York, under command of Col. WEBB, left Yorktown on Monday, of last week, in search of a party of the rebel "Marine Brigade," reported to be on their way from Richmond to Mob Jack Bay, to commit depredations on our commerce. The Morse landed the regiment the same evening at the headwaters of East River, which at once marched across the country to Mathew's Court-house, where information was obtained that the "Marines" had left the place but a few hours previously. Passing the night there, early the next morning the march was continued northward as far as Shuffletown, on the Piankatank River. No trace of the rebels being discovered, the regiment turned about, and scoured the country down to the mouth of the Piankatank, encamping that night at Cricket Hill.

The next morning, crossing in small boats to Gwynn's Island, the men were deployed across it, and the cover beaten as they advanced. About noon, near the lower end of the island, their labor was rewarded by the discovery of the entire party for which they were in search, consisting of an Acting Master in the rebel navy, named WEBB, and fifteen men. The marines were hidden in the reeds and bushes of a swamp, and offered little resistance. Each man was armed with a carbine, cutlass, and pistol of English manufacture. They had with them a 12-pounder breech-loading brass howitzer, which, however, they had previously concealed in the woods. A sloop, with which they intended to commit depredations on passing vessels, was discovered up a creek and burned. They were expecting to capture a large vessel, and eventually to attack one of the mail boats plying between Fortress Monroe and Baltimore, from which city WEBB and nearly all his gang of pirates hailed. In the possession of WEBB was found his commission as Master in the rebel navy, together with a letter of instructions from Secretary MALLORY, ordering him to proceed to the rivers and creeks of Eastern Virginia, organize his party, and annoy our commerce as extensively as possible. To what proportions this footpost marine brigade might have been recruited we can, fortunately, only conjecture. At any rate, the expedition was timely, and Secretary MALLORY's amiable designs have been completely frustrated.

The One Hundred and Forty-eighth returned to Yorktown on Thursday with their prisoners, who were sent to Fort Norfolk. Capt. BABCOCK, commander of the Morse, displayed extraordinary zeal in the discharge of his duties. The streams emptying into East River were patrolled night and day by his boats, the vessel was held in readiness to assist the land force in case they were attacked by superior numbers, and in every possible way, with sleepless vigilance, this accomplished naval officer contributed his best efforts to the success of the expedition.

LATE ARKANSAS NEWS.

Incursion of Rebel Conscripting Squads—Arrival of Cotton at Memphis.

CAIRO, Ill., Thursday, Nov. 26.

Late accounts from the Arkansas River represent that the country is subject to frequent incursions of rebel conscripting squads, and that the citizens have been compelled to band together for mutual protection. This state of affairs renders the efforts of the planters to gather their crops tardy and, and the amount of cotton gathered will be small in comparison with the amount grown.

The rebel force of Gen. Price is represented to be small, with no prospect of any movement on his part.

The Memphis Bulletin, in noticing arrivals there, says:

"It is believed that in a few days the restrictions now preventing cotton from coming in from the country will be removed. The stock here is rapidly decreasing. About 1,000 bales reached here yesterday by boats. The amount of business is small, and the activity of the period has changed. Two hundred and twenty of the beginning of sugar and 150 barrels of molasses have also arrived."

Meeting of the United States Christian Commission.

PHILADELPHIA, Thursday, Nov. 26.

An immense meeting was held here this evening by the United States Christian Commission, on behalf of the Union prisoners in Richmond. Bishop Potter, of Pennsylvania, presided.

The building was filled to overflowing, many hundreds being unable to gain admittance.

Addresses were delivered by Bishop Potter, Gov. Brough, of Ohio; Maj. Bonn, from the Libby Prison; Robert M. Sayler, President of the Christian Commission, and others.

The collect amounted to over $6,000, and it is expected will reach $10,000.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Wednesday, Nov. 25.

Increasing trade with the Mexican ports has induced the placing on of an extra on that line. These steamers carry passengers and freight to the lower coast and return loaded with cattle from Mazatlan and the various adjacent ports along the California Gulf.

Advices will be generally expected over Thursday's River Boy.

Advices are here from Panama to this city to the Northern Railway Point Tuesday.

The Boys Blue Grande Achaean.

SAN FRANCISCO, Thursday, Nov. 26.

The ship Blue Grande, with a cargo of wheat and flour, is ashore at Fort Colombia, Oregon, in full of water, and has prospects of getting her off.

NEWS FROM WASHINGTON.

OUR SPECIAL WASHINGTON DISPATCHES.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Nov. 26.

THE SPEAKERSHIP OF THE HOUSE.

Over seventy Republican members have tendered to SCHUYLER COLFAX their votes to make him Speaker of the House; he solicits no influence. This offer of support is an irreproachable compliment to one of the most patriotic, experienced, practical, good tempered and modest men who have graced the House of Representatives.

A NATIONAL MINCEMEAT.

The bronze ornamentation of the rejected Bank-Note currency has been foisted upon the National Bank Note Printing Company, under a patent right that threatens to be nationally mischievous. It has to be impressed upon the paper dry. To take the impression of the bank note plate, the paper has to be dampened. In drying, it shrinks and twists, and utterly refused to register. The first National Bank of Washington has refused to receive its notes thus printed. It has also protested against the currency thus artistically disfigured, as wholly unprotected from counterfeiting. The bronze can be removed by chemicals and replaced by a press.

IMPORTANCE OF THE OCCUPATION OF BROWNSVILLE.

The Foreign diplomatists here consider the occupation of Brownsville by MAXZY as one of the most important successes of the war, and calculated to lead to most important consequences in our foreign as well as domestic relations. It is considered as certain to bring the new French pretensions on this continent to a head.

A NUMBUG EXPLODED.

Yesterday there was a moderate explosion of humbug in Secretary CHASE's department. The alteration of a large quantity of the new fractional currency from 10 cents to 50 cents was suddenly discovered. It was effected by splitting the paper on which the two denominations are printed, and pasting the tens on the back of the fifties. A large amount of it was presented for redemption. It was, of course, peremptorily refused.

SUPPLIES FOR OUR PRISONERS.

Gen. MEREDITH arrived here to-day from Fortress Monroe, for further instructions from the War Department in regard to the forwarding of provisions and clothing to our prisoners at Richmond. He declares that he is satisfied that our prisoners do not receive articles sent them, although 18,000 rations were forwarded to Richmond a few days ago. Released prisoners state that none had yet been distributed among them by the rebel authorities, and that they had not received any meat for four days. Nine thousand outfits of clothing have also been sent, but no evidence of their distribution has been received at Fortress Monroe. Gen. MEREDITH has 75,000 rations ready to forward, but declines to ship them until advised of the safe arrival and distribution of those previously sent.

REDEMPTION OF CERTIFICATES.

The daily redemption of certificates of the Treasury amounts to nearly one million. The gross amount already redeemed is upward of twenty-five millions.

COTTON AT ATLANTA.

The rebels, as well as the rebel Government, some time back sent their cotton from the seaboard to Atlanta for safety, about two million bales altogether. It will be difficult for this cotton, or any considerable portion of it, to be removed before Gen. GRANT puts his hands on it. His movements in that direction will be rapid.

GOOD FINANCIERING.

Over two millions of gold have accumulated in the Sub-Treasury in San Francisco for customs. This gold has been ordered to be shipped to Europe. The Government will draw bills against it, and dispose of them in New-York.

DISPATCHES TO THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Nov. 26.

OUR PRISONERS AT RICHMOND—ARRIVAL OF RELEASED SURGEONS.

The ninety-five Surgeons recently released from the Libby Prison, captured at various times, and in different departments of the army, arrived here today. They embarked at Richmond, but were ordered below decks until after they had passed the rebel works at Fort Darling. They had no opportunity of learning the number of troops in that city. Clothing and provisions which have reached there have been distributed, affording great relief and cheering the suffering prisoners. The supplies, however, are not equal to the demand.

One of the Surgeons says their own condition was much alleviated by the permission to purchase necessaries outside of their prisons. They generally appear to be in good physical condition, though their wardrobes need replenishing.

While on their way hither they prepared a statement of the condition of the prisoners in the several places of confinement, and of the description of the fare and other points of interest on this subject, for presentation to the War Department.

One of our officers recently asked Commissioner OGEN whether he would agree to a partial exchange of prisoners, and whether if we sent him, say five thousand rebels now in our hands, he would release an equal number of our own. He gave a negative response.

THANKSGIVING AT WASHINGTON.

Thanksgiving Day was generally observed in this city, the churches being better attended than on any previous occasion. The weather has been fine. The cheering news from Chattanooga, in the official form, was in the morning circulated throughout the city and caused general rejoicing.

THE APPROPRIATION ESTIMATES.

The estimates for appropriations, as lately published, are in many respects incorrect. The publication was not authorized by the Treasury Department. Even the present official estimates cannot be regarded as conclusive, because material obligations may by made before they are laid before Congress.

Thanksgiving Day in Boston.

CELEBRATION OF GEN. GRANT'S GREAT VICTORY.

BOSTON, Thursday, Nov. 26.

The glorious news received from the Southwest of the splendid victory of Gen. GRANT over the rebels, infused great spirit and interest to-day in the observance of our National and State Thanksgiving.

The event was specially and appropriately alluded to in the churches; congregations were addressed in the streets by the people; flags and banners were flung to the breeze—in fact, the day was generally celebrated as one of joy and gladness and thanksgiving.

The weather has been splendid.

Thanksgiving Day in Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, Thursday, Nov. 26.

SUPREME COURT—CHAMBERS—Before Judge Barnard—Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11. Part II.—Adjourned motions—Nos. 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, work of the Republic. It was impossible to be supposed that so variety an element, and one so incongruous without modification and the taint of Christian civilization, as was that of Southern Slavery, could continue to exist in our social system without giving rise to a violent conflict of opinions, or that it could ever be eliminated—not our—without a horrid convulsion and great temporary calamities. That this element was not introduced under our present Government, and that the present conflict did not originate in any act of aggression on our part, should be our consolation. It should reconcile us to our condition, to our present state of suffering, which might be worse, to regard the authorship of the National Government, to maintain its integrity, and to vindicate the great principles upon which it was founded. Its charter is as true light shining brighter and brighter. The people were becoming more united and consequently powerful by the one great object—the restoration of peace and unity and freedom to this great nation. Let us thank God and take courage; let us look to Him who could speak peace to the raging winds and waves. Let us seek to nourish in our hearts and in each other's souls a spirit of elevated and unselfish devotion to the good of our country. Let us spurn abject selfishness, but especially among those classes who proved to much its remaining influence, the blessed spirit of peace and righteousness. Let us pray for the speedy and final triumph of truth. Let us have hearts free from malice and hatred, and let us look forward to the blessed day when all causes of dissension being removed, we might once more embrace as brothers, and strive together thenceforth for what patriots made more blessed, pure, amiable, lovely and of good report.

Sermon by Rev. Dr. Bellows.

Thanksgiving services were held at the Church of All Souls, Unitarian Church, corner of Fourth-avenue and Twenty-first-street. The large congregation filled every part of the edifice. Rev. Mr. Osgood, of the Church of the Messiah, opened the service, and made a fervent prayer to the God of Nations to preserve the heritage of our fathers. Rev. Dr. Bellows preached an eloquent sermon on the following text:

"A voice of hosts from the city, a voice from the temple!"—Isaiah lxvi. 6.

Alluding to the nation and the civil war he said, no wise man could confidently say what would be the outside and of that conflict. Notwithstanding the overwhelming power of the North, we have not yet attained absolute superiority in the field, on which we so confidently reckoned. Slavery, which we termed the weakness of the South, and which we expected by emancipation to convert into an effective ally, has played no important part in our successes, and is still defended by a learned portion of its sentimental friends. This war, like all wars, is uncertain in its results; it is full of paradoxes and surprises. Besides troops, military genius is equally requisite to success. To possess the former, troops must be not composed neither of militia nor those called out on short drafts. While the South has a regular army of two hundred thousand men, the North must possess the same number in order to wage a war with any likelihood of success. Slavery is the cause of the war; let it cease, and the war is at an end. The systems of free and slave labor are antagonistic. Like a mated couple antagonistic in their temperaments, they finally entertain a settled hatred between each another, instead of mutual forbearance with each other's peculiarities. The mass of the people of the South are impressed with their peculiar institutions the time in the people of the North are impregnated with their diversified institutions. It is truly the voice of the people. The voice of the temple—the intelligent elevated and moral masses—seeks for the greatest good for the largest number. The advocates and supporters of the war are the most reasoning and moral portion of the people, not only in their spokesmen, but in themselves. The lukewarmness for the war is found among the less educated, the unthinking portion of the population. We will say nothing of the party leaders of this class, as they show what they are from their deeds. The soldiers themselves, to an large proportion, are the best men, come from this class. Why have its peculiar instincts and feeling must be considered, as well as intelligence and intellect. Opposition to the prosecution of the war is fading away. The nation is slowly opening and shutting its eyes, and it is coming to the conclusion that it must get out of bed, and does not know which side to take. The good and wise Abraham Lincoln said, "if the national life could be saved and Slavery with it, it was his Constitutional duty so to do; if Slavery must perish to save the national life, then let Slavery perish." This sentiment has permeated the heart of the nation, and for the sake of a glorious country, and one to be thankful for, they will sacrifice their most cherished rights for a time. Time has taught the nation many lessons. To be thankful for, and who knows but that the caution of Scott and McClellan are superior to the offensive qualities of other generals? It is not for my unmilitary judgment to answer this question. The voice of the noise of the City is the voice of the people; and the voice of the temple—the representatives of the people—articulate and make significant the voice of noise in the City. In conclusion he applied the text literally, that the great Empire City had a powerful influence in directing the affairs of the nation.

The National Anthem was then sung by the congregation, and a benediction pronounced, after which the congregation dispersed.

Discourse of the Rev. Dr. Potts.

Rev. Dr. Potts, of University-place Church, Tenth-street, chose for his text Psalm cxviii., 19, 20:

"The Lord hath chastened me sore, but he hath not given me over unto death! Open to me the gates of Righteousness! I will go unto them! I will praise the Lord!"

The first part of the Doctor's discourse exhibited the connection between national sins and national judgments, and the necessary intermixture of repentance with thanksgiving. He then proceeded in substance as follows: It had been said those are worse with than war. There are evils of injustice, of oppression, &c. They prevail, however, only in the degree that a nation denies the being and the rights of God. Could any wise man give a more truthful answer to the question, "From whence comes wars and fighting among you?" than that given in God's word, lust is sometimes at the bottom of the present conflict. We find the only true prevention of wars in Godliness and Righteousness—the fundamental conditions of all human good upon earth—the glory and majesty of which some Heaven attractive. War primarily considered is the scourge of God. The way to avert it is to cease to depart and learn to do well. There is the seat of national morals, whence flow that which should bind the individuals. No need to solve and trace national developments different from that by which individuals and reach his highest dignity and security. Our sins have made their blessings with unmitigated. Could they regain the favors of God with unmitigated. Could God fall in the observance of the integral laws of justice and generous humanity, and continue to bless? Could they foster social unjustness and cherish social wrongs which may overlay opinions and disgraceffully upon a portion of their people? Could they erect impassable barriers which cased, as long as they lasted, that not the hope of advancement? Could they do any of these things and expect that they will not suffer for home, or peace, or national security? Such questions as these could receive only one reply from those who believe in God. They involved Christian duties. These remarks applied to our own case. Why can God give us new terms, new victory, in a contest carried on by any history, when we consider its circumstances? Why had he let loose upon a nation slumbering in prosperity such a catastrophe. There must be something wrong somewhere. "Where was the wrong?" All well knew the opinion he entertained as to the merits of the war. Many times he had said that he thought it a justly responsibility to meet the terrible responsibility of interfering blood at the hands of the nation; who tried the Infinitely Just God upon the hour when God has determined to make Gog make the nation. We want to see people and live in peace with one another, or we must live in war perpetual and destructive. Had we not spoiled, also, one place in our social life where we allowed Slavery? How had the nation managed otherwise and grown wicker. Our country rolling onward towards the other by equality violent and bloody. The first political contest in the country was on the slave-trade. The next was in forming a Government which at its commencement, of its own accord, excluded it. Slavery, [illegible] and deprived them of the right and liberty of [illegible]. What has been the result? Slavery in Government. The corner stone of our Government was laid in the sin of slavery. Slavery was [illegible] and grew and grew. The great subject was [illegible] and [illegible] Slavery.

[illegible]

[illegible] Lord God of Israel, our father, forever and ever. Thine, O Lord, is the greatness and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty." He grasps the subject mainly between the recognition, to the full extent, of the Divine sovereignty, and the highest exercise of human skill and agency of every kind. "It is God that giveth the victory." Man cannot organize victory, as he certainly is insane if he but man must work out victory according to the truth was still further expounded and viewed in various applications.

In conclusion, the speaker stated, as inferences from the subject discussed: First—Humility. If the national greatness and power are of God, man has nothing to boast of. The need of our nation, at this time, is the just recognition of God in all things, and a humility corresponding therein.

Second—A who use of the prosperity which God has given us. In this a time, when the nation, as such, is passing through the terrible ordeal of fire that [illegible] a time for extravagant folly and display, and for wasting in riotous living the means which a bounteous Providence has placed at our disposal for the relief of the suffering and the sorrowing.

The sermon concluded with an earnest exhortation to cultivate feelings of kindness and good-will to all, [illegible] at the same time, we [illegible] not one jot of energy and determination in supporting the Government and in maintaining the inheritance bequeathed to us by our fathers.

I am sure, said the speaker, that every truly loyal heart, and especially every loyal Christian heart, will unite with me in the Doxology of the text, "Now, therefore, our God, we thank thee and praise thy glorious name."

Sermon by Rev. Dr. Morgan.

Thanksgiving services were held at St. Thomas' Church, corner of Broadway and Houston-street, attended with all the impressive Episcopalian forms, before a large congregation. Rev. Dr. Morgan was assisted in the services by Rev. Dr. Richardson. The National Hymn was rendered with fine effect by the choir, under the direction of Mr. Albert Weed. Rev. Dr. Morgan took for his text, Isaiah xxxviii., 18, 19, as follows:

"For the grave cannot praise Thee; death cannot celebrate Thee. . . . . The living, the living, he shall praise Thee as I do this day; the father to the children shall make known thy truth."

After some introductory remarks in explanation of the text and of the festival, the reverend preacher proceeded as follows: "Were I to hold the idea of unmingled gloom, fears, appearances, Providences, and this bright morning would contradict me. It is true that a great calamity rest upon us—a great cloud overshadows us; that God's wise purposes do not shown as fast as our mortal hopes and desires. But God is with us as He was with our fathers. What has been constitutes the ground of our hope, and gives solemn earnestness. It is a day for work, for sacrifice, for endurance; not for amply prophecies or giddy calculations of loss and gain. It may not be the divine pleasure that we shall see the end of this contest. We may leave the stage, as thousands have done already, who, at the outset, were as eager as we are for the end. Our duty, therefore, is to meet the exigencies and demands of the present hour, as living men, to do our part, and do it well. We praise God for the work of progress. Our praise does not promenade our end of trouble, or our end of strife; it simply recognizes what the Lord hath already wrought. Hitherto the Lord has done great things for us, whereof we are glad. What if the great breath—the wave vibration along the wires, should be reverse? What if the cry along these streets should cool our palces with the news of lamentable disaster? It would not tarnish the glory of those lion-hearted men who have peelled their breasts the high places of the field, or at these who

"Have sunk to rest
With all their country's wishes blest."

It could not diminish by one jot or tittle our absolute duty to advance with unbroken courage upon the foe; and the most forlorn hope, and to redeem, with the last drop of blood, if need be, those precious [illegible] which are imperilled. As the living, we are to stand in our lot and maintain the right, and transmit the inheritance of our forefathers; and though we fall, we shall be able to say, we contended against us, to stand, and having done all to stand. The benediction having been pronounced, the congregation slowly dispersed.

Sermon by Rev. Frederick G. Clark.

The West Twenty-third-street Presbyterian Church was filled yesterday to listen to the sermon of Rev. Mr. Clark, entitled "Rest in the Lord—A Political Idea." Psalm xxxvii., 7.

"Rest in the Lord, and wait patiently for Him; fret not yourselves because of him who prospereth in his way, because of the man who brings wicked devices to pass."

The preacher represented rest in the Lord as the most sublime of human experiences. It is the greatest idea which can take possession of the soul. Its best sphere is in circumstances which seem desperate to ordinary observation.

This is a political idea historically, as it grew up in the soul of the Psalmist. David represented in his person all the interests of the Jewish state. He was persecuted because God had chosen him to feed Israel. In his struggles the nation was struggling for unity and perpetuity. And the national integrity and glory which were secured under David were dependent of all to the power of this principle, in every political combination the most real and the most potent element is the one usually lost sight of. The most notable successes are those which exist under the protect of God's providence. That thing is furthest possible from being settled which is settled wrongly. Our text points toward a great law of Divine retribution—a law which can be traced through the political life of all nations. God is all the time at work undermining evil. He has laid under levy all the elements and instrument of the government of His omnipotence, that He may everywhere, sooner or later, disappoint the workers of iniquity. The blunders and miscarriages of wicked men are not lucky accidents. They are the inevitable law of wrongdoing. They are but the working out of God's plan to disappoint the devices of the crafty. There is a terrible law of retribution which God is steadily acting out in the history of nations. The sword of the wicked shall enter into their own heart. Haman built a gallows on which he meant that Mordecai should hang. God saw to it that Haman himself died on that very gallows. This tragedy of Esther's day was no mere incident. It was a symbol of the eternal plan of God to make men drink the wormwood of their own iniquity. I will find you this principle written all over the Bible. I will show it in prison and in the history of nations; "Whoso diggeth a pit shall fall therein, and he that rolleth a stone, it will return upon him." What a book that would be which should record the histories of retaliatory retribution! Saul should appear slain on Mount Gilboa, by those same Philistines into whose hands he picked up stones to deliver David. Hero, too, should figure the famous Adonibezek, with his thumbs and his great toes cut off, and he should hear him confess: "Three score and ten kings, having their thumbs and their great toes cut off, gathered their meat under my table; as I have done, so God hath requited me." Here, too, should be Rome, trampling nations under her iron heel, and then in her turn trodden down by Barbarian hosts.

Science was an apprentice once. Over 800 years ago she sought over Bohemia, Moravia and Russia, carrying chains, captivity and death. Ask Poland to-day if God is just. Napoleon settled the account of Providence with Russia when he slept in her royal palaces and burnt her cities. But Napoleon was broken, and he too perished. In the merriest midnight of the French power, when the armies of Napoleon had overrun all Germany, and his iron heel was pressed to her bleeding heart, the philosophical Fichte made his despairing countrymen be of good cheer: "The French Emperor is unjust, and he must fall, and fall at last." Resting in the Lord, we can have no national fortune in his hand, assured that he will not deny Himself, nor interrupt the great law of the moral government. We are content to say that our rebellion is unjust, and so it must fall at last. God will not permit this great question in a way to oppose his moral character, or to give any hand to a government founded on the neighbour of all iniquities. O happy will come when the righteous shall dwell in the land, and the wicked shall perish, and be as the fat of lambs.

Sermon by Rev. J. C. Butcher.

The Union Reformed Dutch Church in the Sixth-avenue, was opened for services yesterday at the usual hour. The text chosen by Mr. Butcher was Deut. viii., 2, "And thou shalt remember all the way which the Lord thy God hath led thee," and the discourse was relative to "our History and our Hope."

After adverting to the experience of the people to whom this injunction was addressed, and the remarkable evidences of Divine protection and government, he drew a parallel in the history of our own country, by showing how God has led us, how we have been on a journey, how we have had our trials, how we have had our joys, how we have had our sorrows, how we have had our fears and our hopes, how we have had our enemies in the rear of God's destiny with us.

The speaker then showed that we should remember [illegible]

[illegible]

Sermon by Rev. A. Berky, Pastor of the German Reformed Protestant Dutch Church, in Norfolk-street, near Stanton.

The services were held in the German language. The speaker's text was Psalm 103, 1st to 4th verses, and the words are very appropriate on the present occasion, assembled as we are in the house of God, on the day set apart by our Chief Magistrate, to thank God for the temporal and spiritual blessings which He has been pleased to bestow upon us as a people.

Have we come here to-day with a just sense of the goodness of God upon our minds? Has every one, with sincere feelings of thankfulness, expressed his dependence upon the Preserver of men in verses like these: "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and all that is within me bless His holy name. Bless the Lord," etc.

After an urgent appeal to his congregation to show their gratitude to God for his many mercies and blessings, the speaker then referred to the present state of the country. He considered this year as a just chastisement of God for our sins and ungratefulness as a people, who had been so significantly blessed with God's richest blessings; but, while God had thus justly chastised us, He at the same time had not withholden His blessings, had granted us perhaps greater prosperity than at any time heretofore, had given success to our efforts to suppress the rebellion, so that we had now every indication and prospect of a speedy restoration of the Union, universal freedom, and that our country will again become an asylum for the oppressed of all nations.

THANKS, FEASTINGS AND HAPPINESS.

THE LADIES' HOME MISSION AT THE FIVE POINTS.

No man, woman or child in the vicinity of the Five Points went to bed hungry last night. The only card of invitation necessary to obtain a good dinner was a clean face, and if any little one had not this prima facie evidence of a holiday about her, kind-hearted ladies were on hand with soap and towels to secure it. At the ladies' Mission, on the site of the Old Brewery, 500 children belonging to the school and Sunday School, sat down to a substantial dinner, supplied by the liberality of our large hotel proprietors and private citizens. The children were not only provided for internally, but externals were looked after, every boy and girl receiving a new suit of clothes; and this was not all, for through the kindness of some of the wholesale toy dealers in Broadway, Maiden-lane and John-street, the Superintendent, Mr. Schayer, was enabled to give every member of the school a beautiful present. The hotels have given nobly to this Thanksgiving dinner. Mr. Cacoz, No. 74 Chatham-street, gave a monster loaf of bread—a "swamp angel"—which, although it weighed 300 pounds, was not in the least bit heavy. Every good thing was abundantly provided, and hundreds of bright, clean, happy little children blessed the benevolent givers.

THE FIVE POINTS HOUSE OF INDUSTRY.

At the Five Points House of Industry the children are lodged as well as fed, all the year round; but Thanksgiving Day is a special occasion with them, and the charitable people of New-York never disappoint them. Tables were spread in every available room, loaded with fat turkeys, juicy little pigs, pies, cakes, jellies, every kind of delicacy that delights the heart of a hungry child; and the kind smiles and pleasant words of the ladies who waited upon them, made every little one feel that he was welcome. If every one who gave, could have seen the happy children gorging themselves without stint, upon unaccustomed good things, they would have been amply repaid for their trouble.

JOHN W. FARMER, NO. 47 LUDLOW-STREET.

Mr. Farmer invited the wives and children of our volunteers to eat Thanksgiving dinner with him, and about 240 accepted the invitation. From twelve o'clock noon until nine at night his abundant and hospitable table was spread, and he attended in person to receive and welcome his guests. When a little one could eat no more, Mr. Farmer crammed his pockets full and let him go. Honor be to the man who opened his house to the wives and children of our brave soldiers.

THE NEW-YORK STATE SOLDIERS' RELIEF ASSOCIATION, HOWARD-ST.

Nearly all the soldiers remaining at the Relief Association, who could get off, went home to keep Thanksgiving. To those that stayed, Col. Neville, assisted by Miss Hoyt, of the Ladies' Relief Association, gave a real old-fashioned roast turkey and pumpkin pie Thanksgiving dinner. Rev. Dr. Spence made a short prayer, and then over 70 soldiers made an attack upon as good a dinner as New-York markets could furnish. Nothing was spared to make them comfortable and happy.

HOME FOR LITTLE WANDERERS.

The Home at No. 37 Bowery, was crowded with little ones yesterday. Some 400 were fed in the house, and a large amount was sent to families whose little ones the limited room would not accommodate. Mr. Van Meter says he never before received such a generous response to his appeals. Besides food and presents for those under his charge, he received up to and including yesterday, over one thousand dollars! With his whole heart in the cause, he tenders his gratitude. There were interesting services held here, and so much happiness made for the little ones that they overflowed, and it could be picked up by the bushel.

THE NEWSBOYS.

The Newsboys' Lodging-house, No. 128 Fulton-street, was not forgotten this year. Last year they had no dinner at this institution, but the boys made up for it yesterday and worked off a regular edition with extras. From the stuffed appearance of those subsequently playing on the Park we conclude every one had enough. Prior to their physical enjoyment, appropriate ceremonies, in which they fervently joined, were observed.

GOOD SAMARITAN MISSION SCHOOL.

The children of the Good Samaritan Sunday Mission School attached to the Baptist Church, corner of Broome and Chrystie streets, as well as the Fourteenth Ward Industrial Saturday School attached to the same Church—1,000 in number—completely filled the galleries and sang the hymns; and, after the service, they were treated to a substantial dinner, which had been laid out in the basement at the expense of the members of the congregation.

NEW-ENGLAND SOLDIERS' RELIEF ASSOCIATION.

The inmates of this institution were regaled with a sumptuous bill of fare for dinner. There were oyster soup, roasted turkeys and geese and chickens, giblet pies, tomatoes, cold meats, various sauces and relishes, and any quantity of pastry and dessert. Col. Hows and many members of the Association, accompanied by their wives and daughters, were present.

THE PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS.

The Commissioners of Charities and Correction saw to it that those under their charge were made full beyond the average and happy. There were proper services ordered in all the Institutions, and beautiful dinners furnished at their conclusion. The Islands were illuminated with bright faces and happy hearts.

THE GERMANIAN ALLIANCE.

Around went Rev. C. C. Goss yesterday, keeping time to the music of his wagons and dispensing the charity of the Christian Alliance. During the forenoon food was taken to a large number of poor but worthy families, and in the afternoon the wagons, heaped with bread and meat, were driven to seldom-visited localities, those in need hunted out and distribution made to them. Many interesting facts were elicited and incidents occurred during these missions of mercy, which Mr. Goss designs making the subject of a discourse.

ROSE HILL SOLDIERS' RELIEF ASSOCIATION.

The Ladies' Rose Hill Soldiers' Relief Association yesterday gave banquets to the soldiers under their care in St. Luke's, Bellevue and Central Park Hospitals. About 300 were feasted in all the different hospitals being visited and supplied with substantials and delicacies for them. At each prayer, singing and discourses were had. The ladies waited upon the soldiers, and their kindly attentions begot many heartfelt thanks.

Necessarily, notice of the occurrence in very many of the institutions must be omitted. It can be only known, that in all public and private, there spread [illegible]

NEWS OF THE DAY.

THE REBELLION.

From Chattanooga the news grows more and more cheering. Gen. GRANT has achieved the greatest success of the war. He telegraphs officially that our captures amount to fifty-two pieces of artillery, three thousand prisoners, five thousand stand of arms and ten standards. Yesterday, the rebel army was in full flight for Dalton, Ga., burning the bridges to prevent pursuit, and destroying their depots, stores and every thing that could impede their retreat. Still later dispatches represent our pursuit as vigorous in the extreme. Gens. SHERMAN and THOMAS crossed the Chickamauga yesterday afternoon, and, at 5 o'clock last night, Gen. HOOKER was reported at Ringgold, Ga., full fifteen miles from the battle-field. Another battle was regarded as not improbable.

The Army of the Potomac, after all, is not likely to be stuck knee-deep in Virginia mud until next March. Our correspondent at the front sent a dispatch to Washington under yesterday's date saying that the roads were fast losing their liquefied form, and that a determination was apparent on the part of Gen. MEADE to avail himself of the favorable change. A portion of the army had been pushed forward to the Rapidan, and all day yesterday skirmishing was lively between our advance and the rebel rear. It is by no means improbable that to-day, therefore, may bring about a battle. The army is in excellent condition, and hopefully eager for the contest. LEE's headquarters are now said to be at Orange Court-house, and for a few days past Mr. JEFF. DAVIS has been his guest, spending the time in reviewing and speech-making.

Advices from Gen. BURNSIDE are up to the 23d. He was then considered safe, and would not only be supplied but reinforced.

Our Richmond files are up to the 24th, inclusive, but they contain no reports of the more recent operations at Chattanooga. They are full of reports regarding the occupation of Knoxville by the rebels, which hasn't come off yet. Editorially they are quite gloomy over the foreign, and peace, and currency questions. BRAGG still gets a good share of criticism, which will be apt to increase hereafter. A plot among the National prisoners at Richmond, had been discovered, contemplating a general rising with a view of liberty, plunder and destruction. Correspondents lay great stress upon the impregnability of the (late) rebel position on Lookout Mountain. The clash of arms was soon expected in front of Chattanooga. They hadn't yet heard it.

GENERAL NEWS.

The steamship North Star, from Aspinwall Nov. 17, with $229,976 in treasure from California, arrived yesterday, bringing mails from South America and the Pacific Coast. The war between Guatemala and Salvador has ended, and BARRIOS, President of the latter Republic, evacuated the City of Salvador on the 26th ult., when the Guatemalan forces took possession. News from Quito to Oct. 31 fully confirms the report that war between New-Grenada and Ecuador is inevitable. Gen. FLOREZ (Ecuadorian) is reported to be on the frontier with 5,000 men, and MOSQUERA has gathered 3,000 to oppose them.

Mrs. SEMMES, an aunt of Capt. SEMMES, has been arrested in Baltimore, with her daughter, and both have been held to answer the charge of an attempt to poison the United States Surgeon of of West Building Hospital, to whom they sent a bottle of wine drugged with arsenic. The mother of Gen. WINDER has also been arrested, not, however, upon any charge of complicity in this affair, and has been paroled not to correspond with her friends in the South.

Middle Tennessee furnished the meat and corn for the rebel army. One hundred and fifty thousand hogs were gotten in Middle Tennessee last year, and Atlanta was a store-house for the surplus which remained after feeding the army. From this surplus the Virginia army was largely supplied. Large quantities of bacon were shipped to Virginia from Atlanta.

A report is current in Washington, according to the correspondent of the Philadelphia Ledger, to the effect that the Supreme Court, in the case of the legality of the Treasury notes, has come to a decision, but that, for prudential reasons, it will not be made public just at present.

Out of the fifteen regiments of nine months' troops from Massachusetts who went to the war, there were but one hundred and seventeen killed or died from wounds.

The full vote of Ohio, including that of the soldiers, shows BROUGH's majority to be: On the home vote, 61,752; on the soldiers' vote, 28,578—total, 100,330.

Paducah, Ky., is kept under continual excitement by rumors and reports of rebels in that vicinity.

The amount contributed for the relief of our prisoners at Richmond, through Mr. PURTON, of the Baltimore American, has reached $4,000.

THIS, THAT AND THE OTHER.—The Richmond journals of Monday and Tuesday, of which we received files last night, are all engaged in rehearsing the old cry, "The South never can be subdued—never; we will all perish first—all." But we are more inclined than ever to doubt this, from the fact that the same issues of these journals contain positive avowals that Gen. GRANT can never take BRAGG's tremendous stronghold on Lookout Mountain—that it is impregnable; that the rebel army there "cannot be licked"—that it is invincible—and so on. Though the fact is, that the ink with which these rebel statements were printed was not dry when Gen. GRANT had captured Lookout Mountain, not to speak of other mountains, and fifty pieces of artillery, besides five thousand small arms—and when BRAGG's army has skedaddled on the double-quick—all except the thousands who were held fast in our hands as prisoners of war.

"Masterly Inactivity" the True Civil Policy Toward Slavery.

There is a class of men who stick to the idea that something positive must be done by the Federal Government to end Slavery. Even the issue of the Emancipation Proclamation, a military measure for military ends solely, does not satisfy them. They want civil power exercised, and would gladly have even a breaking down of State lines and a reconstruction of the Government itself, as the only effectual means of destroying the institution of their special abhorrence.

Now we, too, claim a good hearty hatred of Slavery. We are as anxious as any to see it under the sod, beyond resurrection. But we don't believe in making any superfluous sacrifice to get it there. Seeing that it is dying, we are quite content to let it die quietly, without any attempt to pull the house down about its ears and our own ears. This seems to us to be a very absurd sort of impatience—prompted by giddy passion rather than sober reason.

But how do we know Slavery is dying? We know it from the unanimous testimony of all personal observers of its condition. There is not a man within the Union lines South, however friendly he may be to the institution, who pretends that there is any chance whatever of its being saved, if present causes continue. Two things are killing it.

The first is the wear and tear of the war. Military operations always tend to disjoint and break up, within their scope, all the relations of society. They inevitably remit, to a greater or less extent, the social man to a state of nature. Inter arma leges silent. This is felt in every social connection, even the closest and strongest; for they all are, more or less, dependent on civil law. But it must be felt particularly in that connection, which of all others is the most forced and arbitrary—the connection between master and slave. Liberty is a natural instinct. The caged bird is not surer to fly through the parted wires than the slave, in his ordinary condition, from the broken chain—and the chain must be broken when the civil law, which alone gives its strength, passes away. There are men who complain of the Anti-Slavery war policy of the President. A policy that was anything else would not be a war policy at all. The war upon the rebellious slaveholding people of necessity involves an interruption of their laws; and unless the advancing army should make good this absence of civil rule by applying its own military power to keeping watch and ward over the slaves, and thus abandon its proper military business, the result is inevitable that the institution must melt away as the war goes on. ABRAHAM LINCOLN might be as much attached to Slavery as JEFF. DAVIS himself, and yet no human sagacity would enable him to fight JEFF. DAVIS honestly and effectually without mortal injury to Slavery. It is the war which kills Slavery, and not the man who leads the war.

The other destroying agency is open discussion. Slavery can live only in silence. There is a deadly antagonism between itself and free speech. Where the one exists the other cannot. The vitality of the one rests in pure force, and force and reason never agree. It always has been, and always will be, that force must either suppress reason or reason will subvert force. One of the first acts of the Slavery propagandists in Kansas was to pass enactments through their spurious legislature making it a felony, punishable by imprisonment and hard labor, for any man to "assert or maintain by speaking or writing that persons have not the right to hold slaves in this territory." It has been so in every Slave State, and worse. Not only have slave codes interdicted, in every one of them, all adverse discussion of the institution, but a mob power has always been at hand to take summary vengeance upon it with Lynch law. These resorts were not a mere caprice; they were a necessity. Slavery being once accepted as the prime object, there was no alternative but to protect it just in this manner. But the war has ended all that. There can be no mobs where the bayonet governs; nor arbitrary local laws where general military law is paramount. The discussion of Slavery is as free now in New-Orleans as in New-York. It is no more within the province of the Military Governor, SEWELL, to interfere with fair discussion there, than it is within the rightful power of the Civil Governor, SEYMOUR, to interfere with it here. And in the Border States, where the civil laws still prevail, hostility to the rebellion has excited such a dissatisfaction with Slavery as its cause, that by general consent perfect freedom is allowed in arguing against the institution. The consequence of this freedom has been that Missouri has already determined to abolish it; Maryland and Delaware have put declared emancipationists in places of their highest trusts by unprecedented majorities; and Kentucky is visibly coming about to see how she can best rid herself of the curse.

We say, then, that even if the National Government had the right to institute new civil measures against Slavery, it would not be necessary. The unavoidable military operations of the war, and the free discussion which is sure to attend it, are enough of themselves to break down the institution. The Government has simply to stand quiet, and let these agencies work.

But we go further, and say, that any further interference would not only be superfluous, but positively mischievous. To insure that Slavery, when it dies, shall never rise again, you have got to depend largely upon the disposition of the Southern people. That disposition should not be needlessly embittered. If we, by becoming so, as some propose, their foes are reduced to the condition of mere territorial dependencies, Americans can never be satisfied to be underlings. Whatever the fortunes of war, legitimately bring, they are feasible enough to submit to; but it is not in their spirit to consent to any permanent degradation. Undertake to deprive them permanently of their civil rights, and you simply make them your permanent enemies. Territorialize them because you hate Slavery, and the inevitable effect will be that you will only make them love Slavery the more, and hate you the more. This could not always continue. State rights, sooner or later, would have to be restored. We don't believe that three years would elapse after the close of the war before the keeping these States in a territorial condition would be abandoned as an insufferable anomaly in our system of Government. State rights once restored, the people, maddened by the thrall that had been put upon them, would be very likely to vindicate these rights by rehabilitating Slavery. Every incentive of high pride and every impulse of low spite would combine to urge this; and the National Government would have no legitimate way of preventing it.

It will never do to try to give Slavery its lasting quietus by mere arbitrary force. To secure this we have got to rely in no small measure upon reason. We must never forget that just as Force is the natural ally of Slavery, just so Reason is the natural ally of Freedom. When the South has been overcome in fair fight, we must give its reason a fair chance to assert itself. Military authority over each reclaimed State should last until the majority of the people have made up their mind to resume, in good faith, their old relations to the Government, and have had a fair opportunity to canvass how that resumption shall best be inaugurated. Of course the machinery of the State Government cannot be given over to traitors; but whenever there is sound reason to believe that a fair loyal majority of the State want it, let them have it—and that, too, without imposing any conditions concerning Slavery. If this just and rational policy is faithfully carried out, and no arbitrary issues are foisted in to impose a sense of subordination, we have not a doubt that every Slave State will follow the emancipating policy which the Border States, of their own accord, have already entered upon with such decision. Even if loyal duty don't prompt it, interest will. For Slavery, after having been crippled as it has by the war, even if it could live, would only be an incumbrance. But it can't live. It is already half dead. Let the loyal men of the South finish it and bury it in their own way.

Gen. Grant's Railroad Communications.

In that particular district where operations are now being conducted, Gen. GRANT has no permanent line of water communication. He may use portions of the Tennessee and Cumberland Rivers during a portion of the year. But he cannot get steamers over the Muscle Shoals at any time, and over Harpeth Shoals in the Cumberland, only during very high water. At all other times he must depend on the railroad line to Louisville, now stretching from his front to his real base of operations, the weary distance of three hundred and fifty miles.

But though the railroad is as good one season as another, yet it is, at the best, a very precarious dependence. Aside from its liability to interruption, there are difficulties quite as serious. The road from Nashville to Chattanooga, over which most of the supplies now pass, is one of the poorest roads in the whole South. A single, unballasted track, deficient turn-outs, miserable rolling stock, and very heavy grades, are its distinguishing features. When we first began to operate it, a large portion was laid with the old-fashioned strap-rail. This has been removed, and heavier rail put down. The grades, however, are the chief difficulty. The road crosses the Cumberland Mountain between Cowan and Tantalon, ninety miles south of Nashville, at a grade of one hundred and six feet to the mile. Three engines, such as have been used there, are necessary to haul a loaded train over this portion of the road. It has been a literal struggle to keep the army supplied over this road.

But a new era is dawning in regard to railroad transportation in this Department. Many of the difficulties will be overcome, and the distance materially shortened. The Memphis and Charleston Railroad is to be—probably is by this time—opened from Stevenson to Decatur, or a point opposite. The Tennessee and Alabama Railroad, which has lately only been operated from Nashville to Columbia, Tenn., is to be opened its entire length to Athens, Ala., at or near which place it forms a junction with the Memphis and Charleston Railroad. Although this is a longer route to Nashville, yet the road is so much better, and the grades so much easier, that one-third more business can be done over it than over the Nashville and Chattanooga Railroad, and by opening it we get the advantage of two routes of transportation. Its flank is protected by the Tennessee, and the road is fully as safe as the other.

Between Nashville and the Ohio River, another improvement is taking place. The distance between Nashville and Louisville is one hundred and eighty-five miles, and the road traverses a section of country fully as liable to guerrilla incursions as that further south. By February next a railroad will be in operation from Nashville to the Tennessee, tapping that river about sixty miles from its mouth, at a point where there is never less than four feet of water. This road is seventy-four miles long, and is known as the Northwestern railroad. It was projected years ago, and partly built, we believe, but owing to the powerful influence of the Louisville and Nashville road, it was never completed. But the Government ignores personal interests and prejudices, and is now energetically pushing this road forward to completion. After the war is over, the people of that section will have cause to bless the Government for its energy. This line shortens the railroad communication between the front and the water base by the sum of one hundred and eleven miles.

Six new and powerful engines have just been added to the rolling stock of the Nashville and Chattanooga road, and its management has latterly been much improved. By these two avenues, therefore, the Army of the Cumberland, even with its present large force, ought to keep tolerably well supplied.

The New and "Complete Victory" of Gen. Grant.

When Maj.-Gen. GRANT officially announces, as he does under date of Wednesday night, that his army has achieved a "complete victory over Bragg," the country will give to the statement such full degree of faith as has always been commanded by the dispatches of that officer. For Gen. GRANT's modesty is as great as his genius; and in estimating the extent and scope of his former victories, he has never erred in attributing to them a magnitude not justified subsequently, but has been inclined rather to underestimate their value. It seems that the battle which Heaven crowned with this victory was far greater than appeared in the dispatches of yesterday; for Gen. GRANT says that on Wednesday the "battle lasted from early dawn till dark in the evening," and the large captures of artillery, small arms and prisoners, furnish proof that our gallant troops did their work well. It was no mere strategic success that Gen. GRANT gained, though no one could have read the dispatches of yesterday without seeing in the strategy the hand of a consummate master of scientific war; but beside this there was the heroic struggle front to front; and it was this combination of courage and skill that gave us the victory.

Gen. THOMAS, in his official dispatch, under date of Wednesday midnight, elegantly says, "We will pursue the enemy in the morning." This was after the two days' of hard fighting which his army had undergone, and indicates that the men were still strong and vigorous. With this dispatch of Gen. THOMAS, our official intelligence closes, but through the press dispatches, we are told that BRAGG's army was yesterday chased across Chickamauga Creek, and that Gen. HOOKER had pursued them as far as Ringgold, some fifteen miles from Chattanooga. The dispatches represent the rebel army as flying in utter confusion, after a style compared with which the first Bull Run was an orderly and handsome "change of base."

We hope that these latter dispatches will all be confirmed by the report of Maj.-Gen. GRANT.

If LONGSTREET is still in East Tennessee, as we suppose he must be, his position must be looked upon as extremely precarious; for Ringgold, which our advance was reported to have reached last evening, is but one day's march from the line of the Western and Atlantic Railroad, by which LONGSTREET's retreat from Knoxville would naturally be conducted. He will either by some means or other have to dodge GRANT, or fight him, or be "bagged" by him.

Amid battle and blood did the ever victorious army of Gen. GRANT spend the two days preceding Thanksgiving Day, and in hot pursuit of the armed hosts of this infernal rebellion did they "keep" the National holiday itself. Surely it was meet that the whole country yesterday expressed its gratitude to Heaven.

Mr. Corning and the New-York Central Railroad.

Into whatever department of the Central we look, we always find the grasping hand of Mr. CORNING ever busy in promoting his own advantage. Everything has to bend to his insatiable avarice. He is the pivotal point around which the road, with all its ramifications, revolves. He will not brook the least restraint upon his will or his schemes. A notable instance of this occurred some years ago. For some time after the consolidation, the utmost looseness prevailed in the manner in which supplies for the road were furnished. Each official ordered whatever he pleased, and his order was deemed sufficient evidence, without any other proof, that the articles were needed for, and were used on the road. The accounts then received the initials of Mr. VERMILYE or Mr. CORNING, and were handed over by bushels to the committee on accounts to be passed by them. The committee saw the impropriety and wrong of all this, but what could they do? It happened, luckily, that Mr. CORNING made a visit to Europe, and during his absence they had sufficient influence with the Board to get a system adopted that effectually protected the Company. Every person using or disbursing supplies was required to return regular and frequent statements of the amount of materials or supplies on hand, and the amount required in his Department, so that it could be seen at a glance whether his requisition was a proper one, and whether the articles furnished had been judiciously expended. A purchasing agent was also appointed. All these reforms stared Mr. CORNING in the face when he came home. He was excessively angry, complained to the Committee that he had been grossly insulted by their interference, and set himself about to neutralize, as far as possible, their action. How far the checks that were adopted to prevent fraud or wastefulness in the ordering or use of supplies have been abrogated, we cannot tell; but the purchasing agency was either discontinued, or it is now little, if anything, more than a sinecure between Mr. CORNING and the Company. The Committee did their best to vindicate their conduct in the matter, but nothing could appease Mr. CORNING's wounded pride or his resentment at the interference with his prerogatives, and it was not long before some of the Committee, most zealous for reform, were left out of the Board.

Previous to the consolidation, Mr. CORNING's supply agency was limited to the Utica and Schenectady Railroad, of which he was President—a short line of seventy-eight miles. Upon the consolidation he grasped the whole. He was then the chief owner of large iron establishments, the capacity of which he immediately increased so as to meet the demands of the new Company. It is well known that iron, in the various forms of its manufacture, such as rails, chairs, spikes, axles, &c., &c., is the great article of expense in running a road. Up to the establishment of his autocracy, other manufacturers competed with him, and by the better terms they offered, supplied by far the greater portion of the articles used by the separate companies. Subsequent to the date named, they, or the greater portion of his competitors, have been either partially or wholely excluded. One concern, particularly, whose works are equally eligibly situated as Mr. CORNING's, and which had nearly the whole field before the companies were united, has not since been able to get an order to the amount of a single penny, although it would be glad to pay the Company $150,000 annually, for the privilege of supplying to it the articles of iron alone, which Mr. CORNING's concern manufactures and supplies. But no competition, in anything that Mr. CORNING can furnish, is allowed to invade his sacred prerogative of spoils.

In connection with this matter of supplying manufactures of iron, is an incident which most strikingly illustrates the total absorption in Mr. CORNING, of the road and all its interests. His concern pirated from a distinguished inventor the art of making spikes of the peculiar pattern used on railroads, the Supreme Court of the United States sustained the title of the inventor, and ordered the appointment of a referee to report the damages sustained by the invasion of the patent. A distinguished Ex-Chancellor was appointed to this duty. It was the simplest one possible, as the books of the trespassers showed the whole extent of the invasion. Soon after his appointment, the referee was taken into the employment of the Central Company. How far this subsequent appointment by the Central influenced the action of the referee we do not pretend to state; but it is notorious that in spite of the utmost urging of the inventor, ten long years have elapsed since the appointment, and no report has been yet made in a matter for which one month would have been ample. With this case, which has already become a great public scandal, from the manner in which justice has been defeated and delayed, and which will rank with the most "celebrated cases" ever before any tribunal, we have nothing to do, and only refer to it for the significant inferences that can be drawn from it, as to the extent to which the Central Company is wielded by Mr. CORNING.

We might go on ad infinitum, in multiplying cases of the kind instanced. There was the great wood scandal—a fraud by which, a few years ago, the Company was swindled out of nearly $1,000,000. The cost of wood used in 1856 was $768,588; in 1857, $847,583. The total number of miles run in 1856 was 3,296,583; in 1857, 3,647,321. The cost per mile the former year was 23.315 cents; for the latter 23.246. The cost of wood for 1862 was $722,734. The number of miles run was 5,681,141; the cost per mile was 13.432 cents per mile; at the cost per mile for 1862, and for the average of years excepting 1856 and 1857, the loss on wood for the two years was, $615,000 19. Wood, in 1862, was at least 33 per cent. dearer than in 1856–7. About all we can say in reference to this matter is, that the Company was enormously swindled; (but the few facts that could be elicited, (everything being suppressed that could be,) left no reasonable doubt that parties occupying very high positions in the Company were interested in the frauds. Such parties still retain their places. No one was ever punished. The only sufferer was a certain poor fellow, who brought some of the swindles to light, and who was, for his pains, soon dismissed from the service of the Company.

HAM IN UNIFORM.—The first regiment of negro soldiers that has appeared in this City, was encamped yesterday in front of the City Hall. The regiment was from Washington, and the negroes were mostly of the Maryland stock. The fighting capacity of the men really appeared to be excellent. In stature, they were smaller than the average of white regiments; in complexion, they were generally quite dark. In style, they did not quite equal some of our fancy holiday regiments; but for hard, serviceable work in the trenches, on the march or in the field, they seemed to have spirit and intelligence, as well as muscle. Many thousands of people visited the place where they were encamped during the day, and instead of jeers or violence toward the black doula of their country, there were almost universal expressions of admiration and applause.

CAPTURED CANNON.—Gen. GRANT has made another splendid haul of artillery from the rebels. He captured on Wednesday fifty-two cannon—the largest number, if we remember aright, taken from the rebels in any field action of the war. On GRANT's magnificent march up to Vicksburgh, before he invested that place, he captured sixty pieces of field artillery—thirty-six of them being taken at the action on the Big Black; and when Vicksburgh surrendered over 300 cannon fell into his hands. GRANT's losses in guns, throughout his career, have been trivial.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Thursday, Nov. 26.

During the last two days the roads have dried up almost miraculously and traveling is comparatively good.

The Army of the Potomac is again on the march. By this time it is probably in front of the rebel works on the Rapidan.

Skirmishing with Lee's rear guard is going on all this day. A battle to-morrow is considered imminent. The army is in splendid condition. It only needs to be led to victory.

A man came into our lines yesterday who has within a few weeks traversed nearly the whole extent of the so-called Confederate States. Recently he was in prison as a spy, but managed to escape. He confirms all that has been reported as to the scarcity of provisions and general discontent at the existing state of affairs everywhere.

Lee is represented to be near Orange Court-house with what army he has near at hand. He estimates Lee's forces as follows: Forty-two thousand infantry, eight thousand cavalry and one hundred and forty-five pieces of artillery.

Lee, accompanied by Jeff. Davis, reviewed a portion of the army on Tuesday and the remainder yesterday. On the latter day our pickets heard the enemy cheering, and the review is supposed to have been going on then.

WASHINGTON, Thursday, Nov. 26.

A gentleman who reached this city to-night from the Army of the Potomac, says that JEFF. DAVIS reviewed Gen. Lee's troops yesterday.

The roads are now in tolerably good traveling condition.

The news from Chattanooga was telegraphed from Washington to the Headquarters of the Army of the Potomac. It soon became known to the soldiers, who received it throughout our new moving lines with the utmost delight and cheers.

They are all enthusiastic to follow the brilliant example of their comrades, and will very soon have that opportunity.

OUR SPECIAL ARMY CORRESPONDENCE.

The Army Completely Bind-Bound—The Chance for a Full Campaign Gone—A False Alarm in Camp—Sympathy for Gen. Pleasonton.

ARMY OF THE POTOMAC, Wednesday, Nov. 25, 1863.

The people at home are this, doubtless, expecting to hear of something having been done by this army toward forcing the enemy in our front into another pitched battle, and are disappointed. But that is not the worst of it. I fear there is too much ground to say that they will be disappointed for some time to come; that it is now "too late" for active operations. Several weeks of fine Autumn weather were frittered away, for what purpose it not to the subscriber quite apparent. There are those who profess to believe that the army is no better prepared for a movement now than it was two weeks ago last Sunday, when the Rappahannock was crossed. Not knowing the alleged or real causes—if there are any—of the delay, or but little of the interior management of affairs, I am not prepared to indorse the statement; but I can say, in truth, that there is apparently much foundation for it. To-day the army is as completely fixed-bound as it was almost any time last Winter or Spring. The fact that a four hours' rain-storm has done all this will give the reader a better idea of the soil of Virginia in this vicinity than Professor Anybody could give in an evening lecture. It is true, however, that the soil dries quickly when the sun shines, but this affords the anxious onlookers little hope in face of the statements made by all residents here, (Union men,) that seldom is there more than, between November 30 and March, anything like what may be called settled weather. That is, the Heavens yield just enough of the surplus aqueous element to keep the roads in a terrible condition. And the fields, owing to the character of the soil, are no better. These matters are reluctantly referred to, because I know it will make sad many a loyal heart; but then the truth should be told sometimes plainly, and this is one of those times. It will disgust many grumblers, if no other good is accomplished by it.

When everybody is come in expecting to hear any moment hostile batteries opened upon each of no great distance away, some amusing scenes occur. A horse giving himself a good shake at night produces a noise not unlike distant cannonading, and under the circumstances suspected, many persons have started to their feet upon hearing the sound. Night before last a whole division was aroused by what every one supposed to be the firing of guns on the Rapidan. Officers and men prepared for action; reporters mounted their nags, and several actually started off to find the scene of conflict, at midnight. The night was an exceedingly disagreeable one, and one individual, more incredulous than some, and not over anxious to move out of his comfortably comfortable quarters during the storm, investigated the character of the sound more closely than others, and found, much to his relief, that it proceeded from a well close at hand, where a stalwart Hibernian was endeavoring to fill a bucket with water rather fashion, by dropping it bottom up into the water, the concussion producing a noise which every person had heard many times without thinking how much it resembled the explosion of a cannon.

Two more deserters are to be branded under sentence of a Court-martial, when the proceedings of the Court shall have been approved.

The following quotations are from the orders:

HEADQUARTERS, VA., RAPPAHANNOCK STATION DIVISION, CAVALRY CORPS, Nov. 24, 1863.

As it has pleased Almighty God, the Disposer and Giver of all good, to remove from the ranks of our respected General his beloved consort:

Resolved, That we, the members of his staff, offer our heartfelt sympathies and condolence in this hour of our affliction, and that although nothing can fill the aching void left by the departure of his dear wife, we may know by this expression of our esteem in his bereavement, that he has still true and loyal friends by his side, ready to share his sorrows or his joys.

Charles Hamlin, Surgeon-in-Chief; S. G. Nelson, Capt. and A. A. G.; Albert Wilcox, Lieut. and A. D. C.; F. W. Armstrong, Capt. and A. A. G.; J. Gilmore, Capt. and Signal Officer; J. Bates, Lieut. A. C. M.; E. W. Whittaker, Lieut. and A. D. C.

Items of agricultural and domestic interest, compiled from sources many of which are otherwise inaccessible to the American reader; and marriages and deaths of the week.

The "Semi-Weekly Tribune," or newspaper—being a concise synopsis and digest of the news of the day, both political and general—is alone worth double the subscription price to the paper, as it preserves in a condensed and convenient shape from all news of importance, one more prove valuable as a record to all time.

"A Slight Cold," Coughs.—Few are aware of the importance of checking a Cough or "slight cold" in its first stage; that which, in the beginning, would yield to a mild remedy, if neglected, soon attacks the lungs. "Brown's Bronchial Troches" give sure and almost immediate relief. Military officers and soldiers should have them, as they can be carried in the pocket, and taken as occasion requires.

Morton's Gold Pens are now sold at the same prices as before the commencement of the war; this is entirely owing to the Manufacturer's improvements in machinery, his present large Retail Business and Cash-in-Advance System; for, until he commenced sells-ing, his business was done on Credit and strictly with the Trade.

The Morton Gold Pens are the only ones sold at old prices, on the makers of all other gold pens charge the Premium on the Gold, Government Tax, &c.; but Morton has in no case changed his prices, Wholesale or Retail.

Of the great numbers sent by mail to all parts of the world during the past five years, not one in a thousand has failed to reach its destination in safety; showing that the Morton Gold Pen can be obtained by any one, in every part of the world, at the same price, postage only excepted.

Reader, you can have an enduring, always ready, and reliable Gold Pen, exactly adapted to your hand and style of writing, which will do your writing vastly cheaper than Steel Pens; and at the present almost universal High-Pressure Prices of everything, you can have a Morton Gold Pen cheaper, in proportion to the labor spent upon it and material used, than any other Gold Pen in the World. If you want one, see "The Pen is Mightier than the Sword," in another column.

Chloasma, or Moth Patches.

Blemishes on the face, called Moth, are very annoying, particularly to ladies of light complexion, as the discoloration on the skin appears much stronger on blemishes than on the other; but they contribute greatly to marring the beauty on either, and anything that will remove Moth Patches without injuring the skin in texture or color, would no doubt be considered a great achievement in medical science. Dr. B. C. FERRY, having devoted his whole time and attention to Diseases of the Skin, will remove Moth Patches, Freckles, Tan, Pimples and other blemishes from the face without injury to either texture or color of the skin. His success in this, as in other branches of his specialty—DISEASES ON THE SCALP and HAIR OF MAN—will warrant him in guaranteeing a CURE IN EVERY CASE. AGAIN NEW TESTIMONY.

READ.

HARLEM, July 28, 1863.

I have been deaf for over TWENTY-FIVE YEARS, and Dr. VON EISENBERG operated on both of my ears without the slightest pain—a thing that I could not believe could be done. I now hear well, and feel as I never felt for the last twenty years. The dexterity and skill with which the operation was performed evinces the highest practical skill. I hear perfectly. It is now over a month since the operation, and I continue to feel as well as ever.

CATARRH CURED.

READ.

NEW-YORK, Aug. 20, 1863.

I have been suffering for the last three years from a severe Catarrh, with a continual dullness in my head, a tightness across my chest, a weight over my eyes, which were weak, watery and very painful. My nostrils were continually obstructed with a pouring of fluid. I have had frequent sneezing, hoarseness of my voice, generally attended with spitting, often with a fullness of my throat, together with a soreness and a Grooping. Dr. VON EISENBERG has cured me of all these disagreeable sufferings. I now feel a new life. The treatment of Dr. VON EISENBERG is as skillful as it is successful; it is impossible to overrate the benefit I have received at his hands. I heartily recommend any one suffering like myself to place themselves under Dr. VON EISENBERG's care, with a certainty of being speedily cured. I give this with gratitude and pleasure. I cannot forbear again saying that my voice, which was hoarse and thick when I applied to Dr. VON EISENBERG, is now clear and good; indeed, I feel abundantly satisfied.

JAMES LITTLE,
No. 245 7th-st., New-York.

NEW-YORK, Sept. 6.

I have been suffering for years past from a severe Catarrh, with a great heaviness over my eyes, with a severe depression, great uneasiness, and pain in my head, great difficulty in breathing, and a continual accumulation in my nostrils, which gave me restless nights for several years. I have consulted several physicians, who pronounced me to be consumptive. When I suffered for so long a time is indescribable. My system was entirely disarranged and greatly debilitated. I not only felt weak, but I had a cloud continually before my eyes, and my ears were so affected that I was threatened with a total loss of hearing. I must say, I think, I was guided by Providence to come to Dr. VON EISENBERG, who not only cured me of my Catarrh by removing an astonishing quantity of disgreeable matter from my head, but he restored me to perfect health, a blessing I have not enjoyed for many years. Now I enjoy a good night's rest, and pursue my business with comfort. I must acknowledge that Dr. VON EISENBERG's mild and scientific treatment for Catarrh deserves the highest commendation, as the principle which directs his system of curing Catarrh is such as to render success certain.

JAMES FURLONG, No. 439 2d-av.

No. 136 ALLEN-ST., NEW-YORK, Feb. 9, 1863.

I have been completely deaf in one ear, and partially so in the other, for above seventeen years, with a disagreeable discharge from both ears, combined with continual rumbling noise in the head, for which I have been treated by a most eminent practitioner in the City without the slightest relief.

Incredulous Dr. VON EISENBERG, but I must candidly say that I had no faith in his success when I did so. It is, therefore, due to Dr. VON EISENBERG to acknowledge that I am entirely cured; also, that he displayed that skill and knowledge which have procured for him such an unrivaled reputation. As I have had an opportunity of comparing his mode of treatment with that of others, I can truly state that it is not only superior, but the principles which direct his mode of restoring the hearing are, in my opinion, certain.

JOHN TAYLOR.

NEW-YORK, July 19, 1863.

This certifies that my mother has been for some time affected with partial deafness, suffering from pain, and rumbling noises in the head, together with other indications of a total loss of hearing. Dr. VON EISENBERG removed from her ears a great quantity of matter, together with congealed blood, relieving her instantaneously, and all without pain. His with grateful thanks that I give this testimony to his skill.

CARROLL J. POST, No. 28 South-st.

HIGHT RESTORED.

JUNE 23, 1863.

My daughter brought me to Dr. VON EISENBERG almost completely blind in both eyes. I could not bear the pain near the light. I am completely cured by Dr. VON EISENBERG, and called now to express my gratitude to the Doctor for his skill and unremitting attention, by which I recovered one of the most precious senses to me after being deprived of it for four years. It is only due to Dr. VON EISENBERG to state that I have tried several physicians in vain. I shall be happy to bear personal testimony to Dr. VON EISENBERG's unrivaled success to any lady or gentleman who will call on me.

CHRONIC CATARRH CURED.

READ.

NEW-YORK, March 28, 1863.

"This is to certify, that I have suffered from very severe CHRONIC CATARRH, with a dull heaviness in the head. I felt my nose completely stopped up accompanied by continual soreness of the throat, the chills stealing over me with occasional hot flushes, a great tightness of the chest and pain, so much so, that every one thought it was consumption. Having heard of the great cures performed by Dr. VON EISENBERG, I consulted him with but little hope of a cure. I am now happy to be enabled to add my testimonial to the great number already in the Doctor's possession, as to his scientific and successful mode of treatment, as he has shown in my case that skill and knowledge which have procured for him so great a reputation. I am so entirely restored to perfect health that I do most sincerely recommend all sufferers from CHRONIC CATARRH and SORE THROAT to apply at once to Dr. VON EISENBERG with a certainty of being cured."

NEW-YORK CENTRAL RAILROAD.

The undersigned stockholders in the New-York Central Railroad, feeling firmly believed in a return of the prosperous career of said Road, respectfully recommend all holders of stock who cannot themselves present at the ensuing election of Directors, to send their proxies to Thomas W. Olcott, Albany, John E. Williams and George F. Tallman, of New-York, or either of them, to be voted upon for them at that election.

At some time previous to that day a meeting will be called of all the stockholders who may thus send them their proxies, for the nomination of a Board of Directors, or whom their votes will be cast.

The undersigned respectfully suggest that the interest of stockholders will be better secured by thus placing their proxies in the hands of disinterested and well known gentlemen, such as those named above, than by submitting them to the present officers of the Road, to be used in securing their own reflection.

A WORD TO CLERGYMEN.

The high character, scholastic attainments, erudition and social qualifications of American Clergymen, are in strong contrast with the narrow prejudices and limited resources which have marked the history of other nations, and of earlier periods of the world. Coming directly in contact with the theories of the most enlightened minds, as well as the customs of common life, they are better calculated to judge of popular opinion and current items, than any other class of men. Their influence is unbounded. Their opportunities for directing practical reforms and progressive developments impose many obligations. In acknowledgment of the many complimentary testimonials and favors which DR. DRAKE has received from Clergymen in behalf of his PLANTATION BITTERS, he has directed his Agents, Messrs. BARNES & CO., No. 262 Broadway, N. Y., to present a bottle gratis, to every Clergyman who may personally call during the remainder of this year, 1863.

Quite to his surprise, he has ascertained that many persons, sharing in a natural prejudice against supposed nostrums, have closed this with other useless articles, and are yet entirely ignorant of its pure character and wonderful effects.

Dr. DRAKE seeks no confidence not founded upon evidences of skill and fair, open dealing; relying upon the intelligence of the people, he makes a medicine of the celebrated Calisaya Bark, Dandelion, Cascarilla Bark, Camomile Flowers, Lavendar Flowers, Anise, Clove Buds, Orange Peel, Caraway, Chimmaville, Snake Root, &c., &c., preserved in pure St. Croix Rum—and tells them so. Physicians have to indorse him.

With this recipe before the community, and evidences of effects meeting them on all sides, the success of Dr. DRAKE stands founded upon the rock of truth. Every Parish—almost every family—has some case of suffering which the PLANTATION BITTERS will alleviate and cure. Their effects in cases of lassitude, enervation, loss of appetite, constipation, sour stomach, fœtid breath, pain after eating, headache, dyspepsia, liver complaint, general debility, &c., are most remarkable. For aged persons and delicate females they are worth their price in gold.

Let every Clergyman improve this opportunity, and armed with a bottle of PLANTATION BITTERS, dispense healing without money and without price.

POLITICAL.

UNION NOMINATION.

FOR MAYOR,
ORISON BLUNT.

ORISON BLUNT has been a successful merchant in this City for twenty-five years.

He was elected Alderman of the Third Ward, at the General Election in 1852, and served during the year 1853.

He soon became distinguished for his unremitting opposition to "high priced" contracts and swindles on the City Government.

By his determined opposition to the Rum Pavement Contract, in which seven dollars and fifty cents per square yard was charged for stone, it was finally surrendered.

Mr. BLUNT then took an active part in bringing into use the Belgian or Tray-Block Pavement, at one dollar and ninety cents per square yard, which met with universal favor, and which has been laid in many of the principal streets of this City.

He also strongly opposed the Offal Contract, which had been made in 1853, which contract, through Mr. BLUNT's opposition, was finally surrendered and compromised satisfactorily to all parties, with a great saving to the City.

After that, another contract was made for the removal of the offal, which yielded a handsome revenue to the City.

During his term of service as an Alderman, Mr. BLUNT also introduced the question of using Steam Fire Engines in the Fire Department, and which he strenuously advocated.

He was appointed to examine and report the best plan or model of Steam Fire Engines, when prices therefor were offered by the Common Council, and his report was unanimously accepted.

Steam Fire Engines which then met with so much opposition are now universally approved by the Fire Department throughout the country.

Mr. BLUNT also recommended the lighting of Piers by means of Reflectors, which plan was adopted, and has saved many valuable lives.

When the question of bringing a greater supply of Croton Water over High Bridge was agitated, Mr. BLUNT was the first to recommend the use of wrought iron pipes for the purpose, until a permanent structure could be finished.

At the Election in 1856 he was again elected Alderman, and represented the Fifteenth Ward, where he then lived, in 1857.

Here, again, he was conspicuous in his persistent and determined opposition to all jobs and fat contracts, and succeeded in stopping many of them.

He successfully opposed the sale of the Lower Market property, and the scheme was abandoned for that year.

When the Police law was changed, he battled again (FERNANDO WOOD's friends, and sustained the Metropolitan Police Commissioners.

The entire force subsequently surrended him at his residence. Mr. BLUNT has always sustained the force by his votes and speeches, and when the appropriation for their salaries was exhausted, he urged upon A. V. SWORT, Esq., then Chamberlain, to advance the money, notwithstanding the deficiency, and pledged himself to vote for the appropriation in the Board of Supervisors.

When the Board of Supervisors was reorganized under the Act of 1857, he was elected to that Board, and has been distinguished as a Supervisor for his zeal in protecting the best interests of the County.

When the new Board of Supervisors entered upon their duties in 1858, they found many thousands of dollars of arrearages for supplies furnished the County in previous years.

Most of these bills were examined by Mr. BLUNT, and by careful auditing on his part, the amounts were reduced in some instances more than one-half, and a great reduction made in the gross amount.

Since then, the expenditures have been kept within the amounts appropriated and raised for the year, with a balance to the credit of the County to begin the new year.

Mr. BLUNT, by his own personal efforts in exposing fraudulent measures, has prevented many of them being passed.

His opposition to the contract made by the Commissioners of Records, under which eight hundred thousand dollars of the public money has been expended, has been most determined, and he succeeded in defeating some of the appropriations proposed to be made for them.

When the rebellion commenced in earnest, and the President called for troops to defend the Capital, Mr. BLUNT devoted more time and spent more money in sending troops to the seat of war than any other private or public citizen in this City.

He was engaged night and day in equipping the regiments, providing transportation, &c., and without receiving one dollar compensation from the Government.

Before the draft was made in this City, Mr. BLUNT recommended the appropriation of two millions of dollars to procure Volunteers, and thus avoid the necessity of a draft; but he was not able at that time to secure the appropriation.

After the draft was made, and while the Common Council, who had voted three millions of dollars to exempt substitutes, could not agree as to the manner of spending the money, the Board of Supervisors, with the Mayor and Comptroller, adopted a plan by which two millions of dollars was appropriated for the purpose.

Supervisor BLUNT was selected by the Committee to carry out the provisions of the ordinance thus adopted, to procure substitutes for drafted men.

By the manner in which Mr. BLUNT managed the operations, the Firemen, Militia, Policemen and poor men, who were unable to pay the three hundred dollars exemption, were provided with substitutes, and the total cost did not reach six hundred thousand dollars. Thus, the Government got the men, and the Police, the Firemen, the Militia and others were relieved from the necessity of paying the three hundred dollars or going into the army.

So methodical and business-like were his arrangements in this expenditure of six hundred thousand dollars, that when he closed up the work, the cash balanced to a cent. Vouchers for every expenditure were filed with the Comptroller, and a balance remained of nearly one and a half millions of dollars.

When the new call for troops was made by the President, Mr. BLUNT was satisfied that, with proper bounties, a sufficient number of Volunteers could be procured to furnish the quota of the City and County of New-York, and, on his recommendation, two millions of dollars have been appropriated to procure the Volunteers.

Mr. BLUNT is a hard working man, in whatever he undertakes. Quick to discover a fraud, he is never cheated.

Liberal with his own money, he is scrupulously careful of that belonging to the public.

He would make an active, energetic Mayor.

Having risen from the ranks, he is one of the people, and knows how to take care of their interests.

He does not steal himself, nor will he let anyone else, if he can help it.

NOTICE.

To the Stockholders of the New-York and Harlem Railroad Company:

The increasing business of the Company and anticipated connections with other Railroads render it expedient forthwith to extend the double track from its present terminus at Williams Bridge to Chatham Four Corners, and to complete the road from that place through to Albany.

For the purpose of meeting the necessary outlays attending such constructions, and to defray the expenses incident to the extensions of the City Railroad already authorized, the Board of Directors have received that it is expedient to increase the Capital Stock to such amount, not exceeding the limitation of the Charters, as may be sanctioned by the requisite vote of the Stockholders, and to issue the increased stock from time to time as may be required for the purposes of completing such double track and extensions and procuring the necessary additional rolling stock.

The amount of the Capital Stock, as limited by the charter and amendatory acts, and including both the Common and Preferred Stock, is eight millions of dollars, of which two millions one hundred and thirty-nine thousand nine hundred and fifty dollars remained unissued.

The Board of Directors propose that the Capital Stock be increased to its full amount.

A meeting of the Stockholders for the purpose of acting upon such resolution of the Board of Directors and of concurring in the increase of the Capital Stock to the full amount authorized by the Charter and the several acts of the Legislature, is accordingly thereof, will be held at the Office of the Company, at the corner of 26th-st. and 4th-av., on TUESDAY, the first day of December next, at 12 o'clock noon of that day.

For the purpose of ascertaining the Stockholders who shall be entitled to vote at such meeting, the Books of Transfer will be closed, as required by law, on Saturday, the 6th day of November inst., the day of the first publication of this notice.

The Books will be open on Tuesday, the 10th day of November inst.

Dated, New-York, Nov. 4, 1862.
By order of the Board of Directors
C. VANDERBILT, President.
WM. H. EGLESTON, Secretary.

SECOND NIGHT OF FAUST.

GRAND OPERA IN FIVE ACTS BY GOUNOD.

Act I.—Faust and Mephistopheles—The Compact.
Act II.—The Kermesse.
Act III.—The Garden.
Act IV.—Repentance.
Act V.—Death.

The enormous success recorded this work when presented for the first time at the Academy of Music on Wednesday evening was alike flattering to the composer and gratifying to the Director. The unqualified success thus achieved has unusual significance, since no attempt had been made beforehand to prejudice the public in favor of Faust. There was no effort made to create a sensation by the employment of a "star." The cast is too frequently alone even in the principal opera-houses of Europe upon occasions of such importance to the management and artists. Decision as to the merits of the music was left entirely to the very large and intelligent audience present, and a sufficient proof of the unbiased nature of the verdict obtained is had in the fact that the performance was listened to with breathless attention, and then elicited a burst of applause, which ended at the close of each act, culminating in a burst of spontaneous enthusiasm indicative of the great pleasure derived from the entire opera. When it is remembered that "Faust" is a work exceedingly original in treatment, in fact a decided innovation upon the standard method of lyric composition, that hardly a note of the score had been given in this country, that the melodic forms used are perfectly novel in character, and that the composer has sedulously avoided the introduction of a stereotyped musical climax for the purpose of creating momentary sensations, it is highly creditable to the taste and judgment of the New-York public that it has pronounced so unanimously in favor of this contrasted a single hearing.

VAN AMBURGH & CO., in calling the attention of the public to this, the most building ever constructed, beg leave to state that they are now enabled to present to the citizens of New-York, in unexampled splendor, a zoological building in keeping with the enterprising spirit of the great American public. The above menagerie has been completely rebuilt, remodeled and reconstructed, decorated, carved, embellished and ornamented, so as to adapt them for an exhibition of Zoological Wonders, and arranged in a style

GRANDEUR AND GORGEOUS MAGNIFICENCE,

unequaled by any building for zoological purposes in the known world. Even the far-famed

GOVERNMENT ZOOLOGICAL GARDENS

of Europe, upon which hundreds of thousands of dollars are spent annually, fail to present such a grandeur and beautiful view as the visitor MUST behold on entering this

PALACE OF ZOOLOGICAL WONDERS.

So commodious, that from the most remote portions of the immense gallery, can be seen at one glance nearly all the myriads of animals and birds there congregated, and, at the same time, view the splendid performances in the lower portion of this, the

EXCELSIOR ZOOLOGICAL BUILDING OF THE WORLD.

The New-York public, especially the rising generation, have long felt the necessity of a first-class exhibition of this kind, where instruction and amusement are harmoniously blended in one, and where natural history could be studied from the living animals themselves.

THE GREAT STUDY OF NATURAL HISTORY

is capable of yielding innumerable subjects for both moral and religious study. Its chief tendency ought to be, to lead us from the admiration of the works to the contemplation of their Author, to teach us to look through Nature up to Nature's God. It is a study which ennobles in the conviction, the knowledge, and the admiration of that Merciful Being, to whose goodness alone we are indebted for every happiness that we enjoy. VAN AMBURGH & CO., with a laudable desire to increase the general fund of human knowledge, and seeing the great benefit the community would derive from an extensive first-class collection of

sent energetic and trusty agents to every available portion of the known world, from which the finest animals and birds are obtained, with instructions to procure none but the most beautiful of their kind. The beautiful collection has been the collection of myriads of animals and birds fresh from their native clime, and superior to any that have ever been seen on this continent, and constituting the only ever exhibited to the citizens of New-York.

COMPLETE FIRST-CLASS MENAGERIE

The great beauty of these animals over any other that have ever been exhibited, at once attracts and astonishes the beholder. Science is deeply indebted to

for the rich and enviable mixture he has rendered, through his extensive knowledge of the nature and habits of the various animals, he has been enabled to place before the American public an exhibition of such superior excellence and great beauty, as was never before presented in any

ZOOLOGICAL INSTITUTE IN THE KNOWN WORLD.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

The War Between Guatemala and Salvador—Rated—Flight of President Barrios—Attack on an American Captain.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PANAMA, Tuesday, Nov. 17, 1863.

The Panama Railroad Company's steamship Salvador arrived from Central American ports on Sunday. She brings dates from Guatemala to the 9th, Salvador to the 8th, Nicaragua to the 12th, and Costa Rica to the 14th. She has but little freight for New-York, viz: 1,576 hides, 60 bales deerskins, 17 serrones cochineal, 2 bags coffee, 2 bales cotton, 5 cases mats, 5 cases balsam, 1 box silver, 1 parcel gold.

The war in Salvador is at an end. On the 26th of October, at 2 o'clock in the morning, Gen. Barrios, at the head of only 300 men, (not 1,500, as is reported,) marched out of the City of San Salvador, in which he had been so long besieged by President Carrera, and took the road toward San Miguel, the most populous city of the Republic, and where, principally on account of the bad conduct of the Nicaraguans, who have for some time garrisoned it in behalf of Guatemala, he has many friends. Carrera discovered his retreat at 7 o'clock same morning, and followed him up immediately. Previous to his departure, Barrios levied for money and rations on the inhabitants, and before the Guatemalians entered, the city was pillaged to some extent by the bad portion of the people. Several officers of Barrios were taken prisoners in the city. Vasquez, Granda, Avelar and Luna were taken prisoners in the pursuit, and shot. The first named was Minister of Foreign Relations of Salvador. Several combats took place between the advanced guard of Carrera and the fleeing troops of Barrios, both sides losing a few men. The force of Barrios, on its retreat, was either killed, taken prisoners, or dispersed, and he made his way finally to the coast, in the neighborhood of the port of La Union, in company with seven officers, who were seen there a day or two before the sailing of the steamer, and are still at large, endeavoring to escape.

A new Government, under a former President, Duenas, was at once organized in San Salvador, and measures taken to protect property.

When the Panama Railroad Company's steamer Salvador arrived at La Union on the night of the 3d inst., it was known that the wife of President Barrios was on board, and the port-officers chose to believe the same for the purpose of assisting him to escape. So, Commandante Cabezo immediately commenced a most vexatious interference with the business of the steamer, although he had previously promised she should not be troubled. He even refused to allow the clothes that had been washed on shore to come on board; and finally sent a little schooner within 200 yards of the steamer, under pretence of watching her more closely. Mr. Pavarino, United States Minister, had arranged with the commander of Her Britannic Majesty's ship Racoonie, to protect American property in case of need, as it was known to him that the authorities had threatened to seize Barrios in case he sought refuge on board the steamer.

About 7 o'clock in the evening, Capt. Bowerman, of the Salvador, while returning on board in his gig, having a United States ensign in the stern, which being perfectly well known to the people in the schooner, was fired upon by her from a rifle, the ball passing within three feet of his head. The indignation of the officers and crew of the Salvador, who witnessed this proceeding, was naturally great, and Capt. Bowerman of course sharing in it, the cannon on board, on his reaching his deck, was run out, and a shot from it whistled over the heads of the ragamuffins on the schooner, that told them plainly what they had to expect, unless they should behave themselves more becomingly. On hearing the cannon-shot, some people from shore came out to the schooner, and were taking her away; but Capt. Bowerman forced all hands to come on board the Salvador, where he detained them till morning, and then sent them on shore.

The next morning Mr. Pavarino called upon the Commandante, who was exceedingly insolent, and declared he would neither allow launch, nor boat, nor man, to go to or come from the steamer. Mr. Pavarino replied that if the launches for discharging were not alongside the steamer in half an hour, and every impediment removed to the regular business of the vessel, he would at once call for assistance upon the English war-ship. In fifteen minutes the launches were ready, and every obstacle removed, and the steamer completed her business without further molestation. Mr. Pavarino proceeded to the City of San Salvador and complained to Señor Duenas, Carrera's Acting President. President Carrera said the Commandante ought to be removed, and sent another person temporarily to act in his place, so far as the Railroad Company's steamers are concerned.

Mr. Pavarino fully justified Capt. Bowerman in firing upon the boat, as it had the effect of calling the insolent port-officers to their senses; and he is determined that no further petty obstacles shall be thrown in the way of American trade, especially as he has now the United States gunboat Saginaw, at La Union, to execute his orders.

Barrios' little war-schooner Experimento, on which he undoubtedly expected to escape from La Union, if defeated, was seen heading into Punta Arenas, Costa Rica, on the day the Panama steamer left there. It is thought probable that Barrios will escape off the British war-ship Racoonie. The Commander of the United States gunboat Saginaw is reported to have said that he had orders from Washington not to protect any fugitive Presidents or officers in this region.

There is no news of importance from Nicaragua. Gen. Lora, the French agent, was still operating in the matter of the Nicaragua canal.

The Congress of Costa Rica met on the 25th October. Nothing new.

THE UNITED STATES OF COLOMBIA.

Who War with Ecuador—Origin and Causes of the Trouble—Gen. Mosquera—Diplomatic Correspondence.

From Our Own Correspondent.

PANAMA, Tuesday, Nov. 17, 1863.

Late contents from Buenaventura, in the State of Cauca, and from Cartagena, in the State of Bolivar, of which Cartagena is the capital, resulted by arms the "encroachments made upon the rights of the people," so far as his State was concerned, and was at once followed in this resistance by Gen. Mosquera, of the State of Cauca. Mosquera raised a force of a couple thousand men, garrisoned some of the principal towns of Cauca, decreed a forced loan of $200,000 on the State, and declared it independent of the Republic until such time as President Ospina and his Congress should abrogate the "monstrous retrograde laws they had made, with the purpose of practically annulling the new Constitution and centralizing the power of the country at Bogota." But Ospina was obstinate, and after a year or less of controversy between him and the Governors of States, and some fighting between small parties, Mosquera commenced his march over the bleak mountains and barren plains of the Cauca, toward Bogota. After eight or ten months, he finally arrived with 5,000 men before the capital city, having fought on the way several bloody battles. This march was one of the most extraordinary ones in military history, considering the means at the disposal of its chief. Without money, his men only half armed with old George Law muskets—without shoes, and nearly naked—for days together with nothing but plantains and roots to subsist upon, climbing mountains scarcely accessible to goats, swimming swollen rivers, and opposed in many a Thermopylæ by the well-clad and well-armed troops of the Government, to reach Bogota, a thousand miles away, and finally to assault and take it, overthrow the Government and establish a new one on its ruins, were feats, as I have before said, that have no parallel in military records.

Well, Gen. Mosquera, who, with all his obstinacy and inclination to one man power, is an ardent Republican, and a hater of European monarchies and European interference in America, as soon as he had firmly established himself at Bogota, declared his intention of strengthening himself, if possible, by reconstructing the old Colombian Confederacy—consisting of New-Granada, Venezuela and Ecuador. As an military step, he changed the name of this Republic from that of "New-Granada" to the "United States of Colombia." This, of itself, looked a little threatening toward our sister Republics. But he did not stop long at this. He sent agents at once to Venezuela and Ecuador, to propose terms for the reconstruction. The constant state of anarchy that has existed in Venezuela the past five years, has, up to the present, probably prevented much progress toward bringing that Republic into the scheme, and Mosquera's attention seems to have been principally turned toward Ecuador. And here, after a year and a half of negotiation, the matter has come to a dead lock—or, rather, Ecuador and New-Granada, not being able to agree upon uniting their fortunes in resistance to European encroachments, seem bent upon preparing their carcasses, by the weakening process of war, for the more easy digestion of the big buzzards that are hovering about their shores, in the shape of French and Spanish war ships.

President Mosquera, two or three months since left his capital for the frontier of Ecuador, to have an interview with President Moreno in regard to the proposed federation. President Moreno did not appear at the proposed conference, but sent Dr. Flores, son of Gen. Flores, as his representative. Flores did not seem to be clothed with much power, and the interview terminated unsatisfactorily. In fact, the several notes that passed between Dr. Flores and Señor Quijano, Mosquera's agent, evinced but little disposition on either side to arrange matters peacably. The first note from Señor Quijano, the substance of which is given in the Star, of this city, is dated from Ipaliles, Oct. 12, and says that the Minister had orders from his Government to state to D. Antonio Flores, that President Mosquera had come all the way from Rio Negro, in order to meet President Garcia Moreno and reestablish the "old and glorious nationality of Colombia," as a protection against theocratic and anti-republican machinations of European Powers and native traitors; that his invitation to do this was treated with insults by the Ecuadorian Government; that when Mr. Flores was received in Pasto, it was understood that the interview between the two Presidents should take place within six days from Sept. 22, and that there would be signed "at least a treaty of alliance or confederacy" projected in Pasto; that Garcia Moreno had not yet made his appearance, without a plausible reason for the delay, and therefore the conference at Carchi and the signing of the treaty were frustrated; that consequently he (Quijano) had to notify Antonio Flores and his Government, that the Government of Gen. Mosquera thought the moment had arrived for breaking off "the negotiations already commenced, and all relations with Ecuador," if the projected treaty were not signed in twenty-four hours from six o'clock in the afternoon of the 12th October.

Don Antonio Flores answers in a somewhat lengthy but dignified note, dated Tulcan, Oct. 14. He states that there is no necessity for him to refute the first part of Quijano's document, as Ecuador, being united in the interior, and on good terms with the world, does not need any help; that no insulting treatment of Mosquera's propositions by the Government of Ecuador could have taken place, as there had not been made officially by special Plenipotentiaries as stipulated, and as the just protests of Ecuador, an Independent State, were directed against the threatening manifest of Gen. Mosquera of Aug. 15. He denies further that any establishments were made to him at his reception in Pasto, and states that it would have been physically impossible for Garcia Moreno to appear on the sixth day. Finally, he says that he and the Government of Mosquera had conferences about the signing of a treaty, but this was not the condition sine qua non of his reception, because in that case he would not have gone to Pasto; that Gen. Mosquera knew very well that he (Flores) could not sign any treaty, having sent his resignation to Quito on Oct. 9, but that he might have taken upon him the responsibility of signing such treaty, if the demand were not made in an arrogant tone—that there was no reason for getting angry about the non-arrival of President Garcia Moreno, as the latter had been detained by urgent business in Quito, and the loss, as the same had waited for Gen. Mosquera more than a month some time ago, on the same frontier. He reserves for his Government the right to take the necessary steps in accordance to Quijano's note.

The next day Antonio Flores got the official communication from the Granadian Government that the diplomatic intercourse had ceased, and at the same time the Granadian Minister in Quito was recalled. On the 21st of October the Government of Ecuador directed a note to the foreign Governments and their Ministers in Quito, and also a circular to their own diplomatic agents abroad, stating the course of the events and defending the course they have taken.

On the reception of this news at Quito, the Congress of Ecuador immediately passed a law authorizing President Moreno to declare war against Colombia, and troops were being concentrated at Quito for a march to the frontier, it is said with a view of crossing the Carchi, with 3,000 men under Gen. Flores, to attack Mosquera, who had only 1,700 men, before he could be reinforced.

President Mosquera, on his part issued a Proclamation from Tuquerres, dated October 18, in which he sets forth at length the causes of the rupture. He charges President Moreno with being vacillating, "sometimes favorable to the cause of Colombian regeneration, and sometimes hostile to it"—says that Moreno's home policy has always been repressive and despotic—cites many acts to prove this, among which is the "iniquitous Concordat, that converts Ecuador into a colony of Rome, and which will be a fountain of evil, not only for Ecuador but for Colombia." He details at length the causes that led to the failure of the promised interview with President Moreno, charging the latter with an intention to deceive him in agreeing to it, and with having acted in a most insulting and contemptuous manner toward him since he has been waiting in Pasto for this interview. He charges President Moreno with harboring Jesuits and expatriated priests, and that he encouraged them and other refugees from New-Granada to endeavor to get up a revolution in Cauca, while he, Mosquera, was abroad, with the bulk of the troops quartered there. Many other acts which Gen. Mosquera consider hostile to Colombia are recounted, and the proclamation concludes thus:

"Nothing is left for me but to lay before the approaching Congress all the documents concerned in this history of the outrageous insults of Ecuador toward Colombia, and which show the abnegation and generosity on my part to preserve peace between the two sister Republics.

"I have convened Congress in an extraordinary session for the 1st of January, 1864, with the object to decide upon the proper course to be pursued, whether I shall continue at the head of the Government, or whether I shall return to private life, and shall pass the ordinary period, or whether I shall convene the national Congress, especially on question of the public Revenue. I have ordered that the Colombian army shall be raised to 20,000 men, and I shall adjust an understanding with the chiefs of the Northern, Isthmian and Southern provinces the distribution of the troops under the general chief of the Republic, in the province or province which I shall choose for the Supreme Chief of the State, on the contingent of 17,000 men, and the number of 3,000 men to be employed on the frontier of Ecuador.

"Colombians! You have felt well that the day of battle is the day of victory; well orderly the first sound of the trumpet. An honorable peace or a second victory. Upon one or the other I am resolved."

Panama's proportion of troops called out for the war on Monday is 2,000 men. Some small regiments have already gone to Cauca.

We have but little other news from the interior. All the States have been heard from as regards the Presidential election. Dr. Murguia, now Minister to Washington, has the votes of eight States, and Gen. Mosquera got votes—that of Cauca.

The Prince Salvatera, who was ordered to be imprisoned in Chiriqui, was set at liberty by Gen. Lorna, Governor of Veraguas, while on his way from Bogota to Gen. Mosquera's headquarters.

The U. S. sloop-of-war St. Mary's has gone South. Her pinnes have to consisted by the Cyane. H. B. Majesty's war-ship Charybdis is in port. In Aspinwall H. B. M.'s screw ship Sarracenia is in port.

A gale of wind in the harbor of Aspinwall on the 10th badly injured the Railroad Company's stone wharf. No other damage was done except that a French brig lost her rudder.

The smallpox has abated greatly both in Panama and Aspinwall.

Major-Gen. George H. Thomas and His Rebel Detractors.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

As the TIMES has published, from a Richmond paper, one of the many billingsgate articles against our general officers, with respect to Gen. George H. Thomas, whose brilliant services in the West have given him so strong a claim upon the nation's gratitude, it may not be amiss, as the past career of Gen. Thomas is but little known to the public generally, to state the more prominent facts in relation to it.

Gen. Thomas was graduated at the Military Academy in 1840, and commissioned in the Third artillery. In 1846 he was brevetted a First Lieutenant, "for gallantry and good conduct in the war against the Florida Indians." In 1848 he was brevetted Captain "for gallant conduct in the several conflicts at Monterey, Mexico, on the 21st, 23d, and 24th September, 1846;" and in 1847, "Brevet Major for gallant and meritorious conduct in the battle of Buena Vista, Mexico." After the Mexican War, he was Chief of the Department of Cavalry and Artillery instruction in the Military Academy, from April, 1851, to May, 1854. In 1855 he was made Major in the Second cavalry. This was one of the regiments created whilst Jefferson Davis was Secretary of War; his Colonel was Albert S. Johnston; Lieut.-Colonel, Robert E. Lee; First Major, W. J. Hardee; First Captain, Earl Van Dorn; Second Captain, Edmund K. Smith, the position of all of whom in the rebel service is too well known to the public.

Gen. Thomas was on furlough when the rebellion broke out, and was assigned to duty in the column under Gen. Patterson, before the first battle of Bull Run, and from that time to the present he has not been absent from his command in the field on hour on leave.

Gen. Thomas is a native of Southampton County, Va., in a Congressional District somewhat remarkable from the fact that but one of the seven graduates of the Military Academy from it left the service to join the rebels; while the wives of three of our most distinguished naval officers, Admiral Farragut, Commodore Blake and the late Commodore Pendergrast are from the same district. It is understood that Gen. Thomas, in separating himself from his family, gave up the property he possessed to his sisters.

That with such a record as a soldier—known equally for his sterling acquirements as an officer, and his modesty as a man, having been selected by Jefferson Davis as Major in one of the regiments created through his influence and so well sprinkled with officers of Southern birth—the tale of the Richmond paper, that Gen. Thomas should have gone to Richmond to ask a place in the State guard, a mere police company for guarding the State arsenal at Richmond, is too preposterous. The truth is Davis or Lincoln would have been but too glad to have secured a man of such eminence by conferring on him any command. The brilliant generalship of Gen. Thomas at Mill Spring and Chickamauga, are fostering notes in the Richmond Press. Sine illis lacrymæ. M.

PIQUE; A TALE OF THE ENGLISH ARISTOCRACY, is a novel that is immensely popular with the ladies; not in the least of a sensational character, excluding just of the "initials;" though not in the least copied, and is destined to be as popular and have as great a run as that charming novel. The greatest compliment that can be paid it is that it has had a run in London of thirteen years—the greatest praise that can be bestowed on any novel.

All the New-York wholesale and retail booksellers sell these books.

DEAFNESS

NOISES IN THE HEAD,

CATARRH CURED

BY

DR. VON EISENBERG,

AT HIS CONSULTING ROOMS,

DEAFNESS AND CATARRH.

No. 10 Berryth-st., New-York, Oct. 1, 1863.

Dr. Von Eisenberg:

Dear Sir: Without recapitulating the numerous benefits I have received through your wonderful cure of the deafness, I have labored under many years, the blessings I enjoy will convince the most sceptical.

I have tried many quacks, in Europe and America, without success. I was still deaf as a post.

Three years ago I entered your office, underwent one operation, hoping, yet doubting, I should receive any relief, but was agreeably disappointed in finding the genius of your profession.

The innate skill you possess cured my deafness in one almost painless operation.

The joy I experienced was indescribable; 'twas a new life to me.

My hearing is perfect to this day.

I strongly advise all who are suffering under a difficulty of hearing or total deafness, to consult you immediately as I also personally recommend all who apply to me. The numerous calls troubled me my time and patience, yet, remembering my own long, weary affliction, cause me to pity them.

This is not written to advertise your well-known, universal reputation—that would be puerile; but as a measure of precaution to induce all to call on you at once without troubling me; yet I do not refuse to see any one who comes to me. This is the only way I can show my gratitude.

I also call the attention of those who are suffering from Catarrh, which disease I have labored under one year or more.

I experienced difficulty in breathing, hoarse, heaviness over the eyes, a sense of tightness on the brain, and copious expectoration of a hard and viscid nature. Accompanying this is a "polypus," quite filling the right nostril. On the 20th ult. you operated on both, killing the polypus, which is gradually passing away, and giving me great relief from the Catarrh. One more operation will effectually cure.

This testimonial brings with it my unalloyed and grateful thanks, with but a poor delineation of your wondrous skill as an Aurist.

I am, Sir, yours very gratefully,

EDWARD TEMPLE HARRISON.
